GREAT CASCADE in the form of a staircase in the East or Festive Court at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. This court will be one of three great courts dividing the central group of exposition palaces from north to south. The waters of the cascade, springing from a mysterious source, will flow into two great fountains. The court, representing the finest type of the architecture of the Spanish Renaissance, is designed for pageantry upon a colossal scale. The great tower, 250 feet high, at the northern entrance of the court, will contain a pipe organ with echo organs in the smaller towers.

DEATH OF PIONEER FEE IS ABOLISHED

Mrs. Eliza R. Ellsworth Passes Away at Her Home in Layton

Mrs. Eliza R. Ellsworth, widow of the late James H. Ellsworth, died at her home in Layton, Sunday, August 31, 1913, aged 64 years. Mrs. Ellsworth was the daughter of John and Nancy Jane McClellan. She was born May 3, 1849, in Belfast, County Down, Ireland. Her father joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Ireland. Her father emigrated to Utah in 1856, and the family crossed the plains in the Dan McCarthy handcart company, arriving in Salt Lake City in September, 1856. In 1858 she was baptized by Elder McMullen.

On October 17, 1868, she was married to James H. Ellsworth, in Salt Lake City.

Together with her husband they were pioneers and helped to settle many waste places in southern Utah and Arizona. She was subject to many hardships and trials in crossing the plains. She was called upon to bury her father, whom they parted at Bear river. His grave, among many others, marks the trail of the wandering pioneer of Utah valley.

From Utah the family came to Taylor, Arizona, in 1884, from thence to Luna valley, New Mexico, and from there to the Gila valley, where they have lived since the fall of 1885.

Mrs. Ellsworth was the mother of seven children. One being dead, six living. Those who survive her are: William Ellsworth, Ernest Ellsworth, Mrs. P. H. Beebe, Mrs. F. M. Layton, Mrs. S. A. Merrill and Clarence Ellsworth, all of whom live in the Gila valley. She is also survived by two brothers and three sisters.

Mrs. Ellsworth served and labored in the Layton ward. She was a loving mother and friend to many, and will be missed by many, for she was full of faith, strong of character and of noble and inspiring deeds.

Funeral services were held in the Layton ward meeting house, Monday afternoon, Bishop James R. Welker, presiding. The speakers were: A. E. Jacobson, Peter J. Jacobson, President Andrew Kimball and Bishop James R. Welker.

The interment was made in Union cemetery.

T. K. Wootan and T. J. Power, of Klondyke, were visitors in town this week.

No Charge for Vehicles Crossing the San Carlos Indian Reservation

According to the following letter received by the board of supervisors from Supt. Lawshe, the fee which has been charged for automobiles and other vehicles crossing the Indian reservation, has been abolished. The letter dated at San Carlos, September 2d, is as follows:

"On August 25 I received a telegram from the Indian Office advising me that the regulations governing right of way or crossing fees had been approved in a slightly modified form, and that full instructions had been mailed.

"The new regulations have now been received and are as follow:

"1. All non-residents driving live stock across the San Carlos Indian Reservation shall be required to pay to the superintendent a fee of ten cents per head for horses, mules, burros and cattle, and two cents per head for sheep. Provided, that non-reservation stock (other than sheep), driven on the reservation for shipment, shall pay five cents per head, and for sheep, one cent per head. And provided, that no charge shall be made for vehicles passing upon the highways of the reservation, nor for animals actually in use for transportation or led by halter.

"This, in brief, means that loose animals only shall be charged crossing fees. No fees on vehicles have been collected since the 25th day of August.

"I quote in addition a paragraph from my letter of instructions: 'The regulations are amended as indicated, with the distinct understanding that a crossing tax shall be reimposed whenever the counties fail or refuse to contribute annually a satisfactory sum toward the upkeep of the roads on the reservation used by the public.'

"The approval of the regulations necessarily carried with it the approval of the contract entered into for the fiscal year, 1914.

"Please make the funds now due available as soon as possible.

"Respectfully,
"A. L. LAWSHE,
"Superintendent."

GOOD ROADS DAY A GRAND SUCCESS

Seventy-five Men Worked the Road from Solomonville to County Line

ROAD READY FOR AUTO RACE

Workers are Enthusiastic and Many Roads Will Now Be Worked

Good roads day was inaugurated Wednesday in earnest and the result has been most satisfactory.

Thirty-five miles of road from Solomonville to the county line at Ash Spring was worked over and one of the best pieces of road on the ocean-to-ocean highway has been accomplished.

Saturday, R. W. Smith, Wiley Jones and By Smith started out to enthrall the business men and farmers of the valley in the project of a good roads day, with the objective point for the first day's work on the road between Solomonville and Duncan.

Previous to this, R. W. Smith had been to Duncan and had succeeded in getting the people there to start from their end and work the road to the county line. The Duncanites had gone to work at once and had completed their part to within a few miles of the line, which has now been completed.

The result of the labors of the good roads day committee was most gratifying. A good number of men from Safford and Solomonville promised to go out for the day, and others who could not get away from business contributed liberally to the fund.

Wednesday morning, a party of about fifty men left here in automobiles owned by the following: Wiley Jones, Roman Campbell, R. A. Smith, Jr., Mack Freeman, Wm. Ellsworth, H. D. Empey, L. G. Haby, Harry Solomon, Harry Kirtland and Robert Nash.

Water, ice and luncheon was hauled out to the workers by two trucks owned by Willie Freeman and Albert Todd.

When the Safford party reached Solomonville they were joined by R. W. Smith and a party of twenty-five men.

The combined forces then started out and proceeded to the top of the summit dividing Greenlee and Graham counties, and here the work of good roads day began under the direction of William Nelson, Dolph Foote, Ben Maurer, Martin Kempton, W. R. Cosper and A. E. Welker.

The men were divided up into groups of six and transported in autos to the sections they were assigned to work. The road was thoroughly gone over, rocks thrown out, bad places filled in and curves straightened. As fast as one section was completed, the finishing gang was transferred to the next section, and in this way the work was carried along until the party reached the San Jose ditch, about five o'clock, where they were met by the workers from Solomonville, who had completed the road to that point.

Never in the history of road making in this section was more speedy work accomplished. Every one worked with a will and an enthusiasm that was grand to witness, and the results were most gratifying.

At noon everybody stopped work and enjoyed a lunch of meat, bread, tomatoes, cantaloupe and water.

As a grand result of the first good roads day, the ocean-to-ocean highway from Lordsburg, N. M., to Phoenix, Ariz., has now one of the best roads in the country. This part of the highway gives the automobilist from the east one of the prettiest stretches of road on the highway, running through the fine farming section of the upper and lower Gila valley and passing thru the big copper camps of Globe and Miami on the way to Roosevelt Dam.

No dreary prairie wastes to make the eyes tired, or roads of broken malaple to puncture tires miles away from a habitation. Instead one travels through green fields on good roads shaded by trees and in a country where every few miles there is a good town, with garages and hotel accommodations.

On September 16th the first big automobile road race will be run over the new road just completed from Duncan to Solomonville.

On the way home Wednesday several of the cars made test runs and their speedometers registered from 28 to 40 miles per hour.

The success which attended the first good roads day will now be fol-

TO PRESERVE FRUIT

Formula for Keeping Fruit in Good Condition for Exhibition Purposes

The specimens to be preserved should be the most perfect obtainable, free from all blemishes and imperfections. In most cases fruit of a fair degree of ripeness is better than partly green specimens.

Exhibition jars should be of clear white glass preferably with ground glass stoppers. The tall cylindrical form is desirable, especially for the smaller fruits.

The sorted fruit is first carefully placed in the jar, which is then filled with clear water. After standing a short time the water should be poured off so as to remove all particles of dirt from the jar and contents. The jar may then be filled with the preserving fluid and kept in a dark, cool place until the time of exhibition. Frequent examination should be made to determine how well the fruit is keeping. If the liquid becomes colored from the fruit, it should be poured off and replaced by fresh fluid.

The following formulas have been successfully used at the Colorado Agricultural college, especially with plums, grapes, cherries, currants and gooseberries:

Formalin, 5 parts; saturated solution of common table salt, 10 parts; water (boiled and cooled) enough to make 100 parts. This may be made up by measures as follows: Formalin, 1 pint; salt solution, 2 pints; water, 17 pints.

When made up, the solution will keep indefinitely. Another solution weaker in formalin has also been used here satisfactorily. The proportions are: Formalin, 3 parts; salt solution, 10 parts; water enough to make 100 parts.

For raspberries, the following mixture is recommended: Formalin, 1 part; glycerine, 10 parts; water, 89 parts. Strawberries may be preserved fairly well in a saturated solution of common salt, and better still in a fluid composed of formalin, 1 ounce; alum, 1 drachm; glycerine, 5 ounces; water, three pints.

Red currants keep better in a solution of corrosive sublimate, 1 part; glycerine, 10 parts; water, 90 parts.

The corrosive sublimate must be dissolved in hot water and the solution and fruit preserved in it should be labeled poison, as it is very deadly if swallowed.

The glass stoppers of bottles and jars may be made perfectly tight by smearing the ground surface with a small amount of light colored vaseline. This will also prevent, in a great measure, the sticking of the stoppers when it is desired to remove them.

The above is the formula used by the Colorado Agricultural College, and should be used only for keeping fruit for exhibition purposes, as it is a deadly poison. A poison label should be put on every bottle.

Two Car Loads Early Bar Wheat

The Gila Valley Milling Company has just received two car loads of Early Bar seed wheat. We were invited to inspect this wheat as the cars were being unloaded, and we must say with pleasure that this wheat is the finest, largest and best filled grain and of the most uniform grade of wheat we have ever inspected.

Mr. Ginter advises that the farmers did well with Early Bar wheat last season, notwithstanding the seed was not as clean as expected and most of the farmers planted the seed too late, and yet some of the crops yielded around fifty bushels to the acre, and the farmer received more for the Early Bar wheat than any other grain he raised.

If the best farmers will plant this clean Early Bar seed wheat this season, we believe it will mean a better future condition for our farmers.

Mrs. W. W. Pettis, of Yuma, arrived here Saturday afternoon, to spend two weeks visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kirkpatrick and her sister, Miss Mary, at their home in Layton.

lowed up by other good roads days on which the good road boosters will go out and work over other roads through the valley. It is probable that the next work will be done on the road leading to Willcox, which can be put in fine shape in a short time. The road to Klondyke is another road that will receive attention, and it won't be long until good roads day will have accomplished the best roads in Arizona and will serve to draw hundreds of travelers this way and through the beautiful Gila valley.

THE PLOT IS FOILED

Wm. Stewart Planned Wholesale Jail Delivery and Murder of Officers

Details of a plot among the prisoners in the Globe jail to stab Deputy Sheriff Bill Wilson to death, seize his keys and effect a general jail delivery, and, if necessary, kill a number of other persons with guns to be taken from the sheriff's office, were discovered Wednesday. The discovery of the deep laid murder plot followed the uncovering of a place in the upper section of the jail where the prisoners had sawed nearly through a steel wall which was the only bar to the successful accomplishment of their scheme.

Officer Wilson first learned of the plot through a prisoner who was released from the jail a few days ago. An investigation, made quietly and without arousing the suspicion of the plotters, revealed further steps in the scheme.

William Stewart, under sentence of death for the murder of Fred Kibbe, was the ringleader of the plot, it is charged, and his lieutenant was alleged to be Robert Lacey, now awaiting trial for the murder of Jose Peres, the victim of the Miami "Night of Terror."

Lacey, according to the officers, acted as "lookout," while the other prisoners confined in the upper part of the jail sawed at the steel.

The hole was being cut by the prisoners in the steel wall of the bathroom-cell in the northwest corner of the jail. Through this hole they expected to crawl into the "run-around" or corridor into which Deputy Sheriff Wilson steps at night when he throws the levers which lock the doors of the cells inside the "cage."

According to the officers, the plan was for Stewart to crawl into the "run-around" and lie in wait for the deputy sheriff when he came to lock up at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, stab him in the jugular vein and conceal the body. Then Stewart was to take Wilson's keys, release all the prisoners in the jail and lead them to the sheriff's office, which would be empty at that time of night, and there get arms and ammunition with which to slay anyone who attempted to interfere with their escape.

Stewart and Lacey have been removed to widely separated parts of the jail.

WEDDING BELLS

Miss Laura Fonda Becomes the Bride of Harry Archuleta

The marriage of Miss Laura Fonda, daughter of W. B. Fonda, to Harry Archuleta, of Denver, Colo., took place Sunday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. D. Welker. The ceremony was performed by Judge Charles Yett, of Solomonville.

Only members of the family and two of the bride's former playmates, Misses Rosa and Jessie Ellsworth, were present.

After the ceremony the happy couple received the congratulations of the guests and led the way to the dining room, where refreshments of fruit punch and cake were served.

In the evening the bride and groom stole a march on the young folks, who were waiting to give them the customary noisy reception, and left town in Ezra Madsen's auto.

But, about midnight word was passed along that the couple were located, and five autos loaded with artillery, went to the house and gave them a rousing serenade that brought them back to earth.

Finally, the groom could stand it no longer and appeared on the scene, and in a short speech thanked the serenaders and otherwise squared himself, and peace and quietness reigned once more.

The happy couple will make their home here.

A PLEASANT PARTY

The Misses Schroeder Entertain in Honor of Miss Clara Platt

Misses Martha and Edna Schroeder entertained on Tuesday evening, at their home on Eleventh street, in honor of Miss Clara Platt.

About thirty young people were in the party and they spent a very enjoyable evening in games and music.

Delightful refreshments of ice cream, cake, lemonade and candy were served.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their acts of kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Eliza R. Ellsworth.

YAQUI INDIANS THREATEN REVOLT

Lives and Properties of Many Americans in Sonora are Imperiled

INDIANS WANT THEIR LANDS

State Department at Washington Asked to Send Warship at Once

The threatened uprising of the Yaqui Indians is a menace to the supremacy of the Sonora government, and will endanger the lives and property of hundreds of Americans in Sonora.

The Yaquis demand the lands taken from them during the regime of Porfirio Diaz, when Gen. Luis Torres was military governor of Sonora. The Pima and Mayo tribes, which have also been fighting on the side of the constitutionalists thus far, have joined with the Yaquis in their demands.

Washouts, due to the recent heavy rains, are preventing many Americans from leaving the country by northward journeys to the border. For that reason the state department at Washington was asked to send a warship to meet them at the outlet of the Yaqui and Mayo rivers.

The movement resulted from a warning from American Consul Agent Hostetter, at Hermosillo, who has recommended that all Americans leave the Yaqui country, in even stronger terms, it is said, than the president used in his general request. Hostetter shares the belief of those on the border that the relations between the Indians and Constitutional insurgents are rapidly reaching a crisis.

Several small bands of Indians are reported to have taken the field independently. Desertions of Indians from state troops ranks continues. The Yaquis, it is reported, have not receded from their demands that all lands formerly in their possession be returned. Governor Maytorena appealed for aid from Gen. Obregon, who has much influence with the Yaqui chiefs.

The brewing revolt was caused partially by the killing of six Yaquis part of a group that revolted against the state government at Cocorit.

State troops under Lieutenant Colonel Ignacio Rodriguez succeeded in quelling the revolt. Rodriguez and his men are reported to be fortified at Navojos, expecting the Indians to return with reinforcements.

GIRL BIT BY SNAKE

Miss Gladys Spalding Has a Narrow Escape from Death

Miss Gladys Spalding while returning home Monday morning from a visit to the Lone Star mines, noticed that her horse had picked up a stone and stopped when she had reached the second mesa, near the camp of a prospector and his wife.

While stooping to get a stick out of the brush to take out the stone in the horse's hoof, she was bit by rattlesnake on the left hand, between the thumb and forefinger.

She hurried to the prospector's tent, where the woman applied potash to the wound and tied a cord tightly around the arm above the wrist.

Getting into her buggy, she made a quick trip to her home west of town, and her folk's summoned Dr. McWhirt, who dressed the wound.

Miss Spalding is not suffering any serious consequence from the snake bite. The wound is healing and she is able to be out.

Date Is Set for Bids on Bridges

Bids for the San Carlos bridges, for which $35,000 in government funds is now available, are to be received on September 22d, according to word brought to Globe Tuesday by J. S. Miles, who had a brief visit with Agent Lawshe. This indicates that work will be started this fall on the bridges and that they will be ready for use by motorists crossing the continent on the Southern National Highway route early next spring. Mr. Lawshe has already received inquiries about the bridge contracts from a number of large firms and it is assured that the new structures will be of the finest type.—Arizona Record.
